

Dear Ms. Ann:

Thank you for the invitation to serve on your editorial board. I am interested. Please accept my apologies for the delayed reply; your email had landed in my Spam/Junk folder due to security parameters of our institution. Diabetes and related disorders is in alignment with my research and teaching interests. Furthermore, I was recently published in the CDC's MMWR which has gained national attention and program implementation.

Attached, please find my abbreviated CV and Bio in PDF along with the requested photograph.

I look forward to learning more about this invitation and your Journal publication. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Respectfully,
