

Dear Editorial Office Journal of Cell Signaling,

my name is Chiara Corrado and I'm an Assistant Professor of Biology and Genetic at University of Palermo (ITALY).

I am taking the liberty of contacting you because I recently got to know about your prestigious International Journal.

As you can see from my CV, both in my professional and academic activity, I dealt with topics related to your Journal.

For this reason, I would be pleased and very interested in actively contributing to the spread of your Journal, and I thus would like to submit you a speculative application as a possible Editorial board member and reviewer of the Journal.

Thank you very much for your time and sorry for the bother.

Best regards,

Chiara Corrado
