Dear Editorial Assistant,

Thank you for your e-mail. It is a pleasure to say that I can submit a manuscript which is an in vitro study about the shear bond strength between porcelain system and orthodontic brackets after porcelain surface treatments.

I am also writing to ask some information and express regret for the delay regarding payment of publication fee of my previous manuscript. I had sent e-mails to the journal; however, I could not get a response regarding the publication fee.

Previous emails from the editorial assistants indicated that I could get a huge discount on the publication fee for the published manuscript. However, I had got an invitation letter from JBR to submit an article for this journal before. So, I am still waiting for Editorial Office to provide a full waiver for the previous manuscript. As I mentioned before, I had not been informed about any publication fee for the published manuscripts before I submitted my manuscript to the system. Because I did not to pay a publication charge for a manuscript in a journal which is not indexed in PubMed.

Moreover, I hold a position of an Editor for two international journals, EC Dental Science and Journal of Case Reports and Images in Dentistry. In this regard, I can understand the journal's general policy; however, I would really appreciate it if you could assist me with this issue. Moreover, I would like to join the editorial board of the JBR Inter Disciplinary Medicine and Dental Science and help if the journal still accepts editorial board member.

Thank you,

Dr. Pinar Cevik, Ph.D., DDS
