Dear Dr. Sungeun Choi,

Greetings from Journal of Obesity and Weight Loss Therapy!

Thank you for your e-mail. I would like to inform you that the corrections will be done within next 48 hrs. The calculated impact factor of our journal is 2.65.

We are aware of your expertise in the field of Obesity and related disorders; hence we take the privilege to invite you to be a part of the Editorial Board of Journal of Obesity and Weight Loss Therapy. With your support we hope to bring forth much needed attention and exposure to the field of Obesity and thereby promote better health in a novel way.

I request you to kindly accept this position and send us your updated CV and a photograph. I would also like to request you to kindly coin a special issue on any of the topics that may be related to Obesity as an Editorial Board member. Your guidance and contribution will be helpful to our journal in reaching higher standards.

It will be great if you could respond to us in this regard at your earliest.

Your participation is valuable to us.

Hoping for your positive response.

With Best Regards
Salt Kaur

Dear Mr. Kaur,

I received the corrected proof (including funding acknowledgement, thank you!) and sent my final author proof with the minor corrections back to Mr. Marreddy. I hope all my corrections will be included in the final manuscript. Thank you for taking care of all my request.

One more question is, could you let me know the Impact Factor of Journal of Obesity and Weight Loss Therapy? I need to report the information to my school. If the Impact Factor is not currently available, your journal's article acceptance rate will work as well.

Lastly, thank you for registering me as a reviewer in your journal last month. If you could arrange an opportunity for me to review some articles for your journal in the near future (during this summer), I highly appreciate it. As I am very interested in the topics of your journal, I really like to review some articles for your journal, if possible.

Thank you for your consideration and kind help.

Best regards,

Dear Mr. Marreddy and Mr. Kaur,

I realized my acknowledgement of funding support for my study was not included in the author proof although I submitted the funding disclosure in my cover letter of initial submission on March 16, 2015.

If you could kindly make sure to include the following acknowledgement in my final version of article, I really appreciate it. I have a responsibility of acknowledging funding source for my project as a PI. Also attached funding disclosure file (same content) in this email. Thank you so much for your time and help.

FUNDING/SUPPORT or Acknowledgement:

This study was funded by a Professional Staff Congress-City University of New York 42 grant (#64396-00-42) from the Research Foundation of the City University of New York.
